

Complex Litigation

For over 60 years, Manning Fulton has enjoyed a reputation among lawyers, judges, business leaders and individuals as one of North Carolina's premier litigation firms. Our lawyers appear for a variety of clients in all state and federal courts, trial and appellate level, and administrative bodies, and have been involved in some of the landmark decisions that have shaped our state's business and social climate.

Our lawyers are prepared to litigate every matter to conclusion, through trial and appeal, but look to resolve any matter in the fastest, most efficient and economical manner. Throughout the process, our lawyers consistently provide firm, decisive, and sensible advice to their clients, as well as vigorous, informed advocacy on behalf of their clients.

Our relatively small size and commitment to North Carolina allows us to keep rates low and consistently provide clients with economical, top-flight service, while also allowing our litigators to engage outside the firm in varied community leadership roles.
