It's back!

WinterFeast, a Tryon Palace tradition, returns on Friday, January 31. The big draw for the annual event, as always, is the oysters, brews, and comfort foods. Attendees will be able to dive into a table full of fresh, local, steamed oysters, sample classic winter favorites like chowders and shrimp and grits, and enjoy jambalaya prepared by local chefs, plus wash it down with a selection of delicious brews while enjoying a night out with friends and neighbors.

The festivities start at 5:30 p.m. at the Bate Commons, Mattocks Hall, and North Carolina History Center. Ticket prices are $50 for adults and can be purchased here.

Proceeds benefit the Tryon Palace Foundation, which helps preserve North Carolina's rich history from early settlement through the mid-twentieth century. Ward and Smith is a proud sponsor of WinterFeast.
