Andrew is an associate in the firm's St. Louis office. He practices in the areas of insurance law, premises and retail liability, and product liability.

Born and raised in St. Charles, Missouri, Andrew spent two years in various roles with the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) national office in Kansas City before moving back to St. Louis. He grew up an avid Cardinals and Blues fan. While going to school and working in Kansas City, he became a big supporter of the Kansas City Chiefs. In his free time, he enjoys playing golf, spending time on the lake, and keeping up with his favorite professional sports teams.
