Matthew is a senior associate practicing in the firm's Kansas City office. His practice focuses in the areas of premises and retail liability, employment law and workers' compensation.

Born and raised in Kansas City, Missouri, Matthew attended Metropolitan Community College, receiving his associate's degree in General Arts in only one year. He subsequently attended the University of Missouri Kansas City, receiving his bachelor's in only one additional year. He finally attended the University of Missouri Kansas City School of Law and graduated with honors in 2021 at the age of only 22, receiving his Juris Doctorate in only two years.

When he's not busy practicing law, Matthew participates in recreational soccer league(s) and plays the occasional game of golf. Further, he also spends time with his amazing girlfriend and their golden retriever.
