Construction

Construction is a high-pressure industry where time is money. Whether you are a contractor, developer, architect, engineer or other key player, our Carruthers & Roth construction team provides prompt and practical solutions personalized to your needs. We support you as you litigate and resolve disputes, form partnerships, negotiate contracts, secure financing, submit bids and successfully manage your business, your workforce and your projects.

Our highly experienced construction litigation team can act as your advocate before federal, state and appellate courts and can represent your interests before licensing and zoning boards and other administrative bodies.

Our Experience

- Bid protests and disputes
- Building codes, environmental regulations, zoning, land use and property tax valuation matters involving state and local governing boards
- Business and real estate transactions
- Condemnation proceedings and eminent domain
- Construction bonds, liens, surety claims and creditor's rights
- Contract development and negotiation
- Contract breaches and disputes involving terms, change orders, schedule delays and payments
- Incentives and tax advantages for economic development
- Professional licensing and disciplinary hearings before administrative bodies
- Personal injury and liability claims involving construction defects and jobsite accidents
- Mediation of out-of-court settlements
- OSHA regulations, labor law and other employment-related matters
