

I know that all of us miss Emily terribly and are still getting over her move upstairs to her new position, but we have some great news that will hopefully soften the blow. We are pleased to announce our newest member of the Volunteer Department... T.J. Luty! T.J. is definitely no stranger to the God's Love family, as he's been a dedicated Wednesday morning packout volunteer for over 6 years, devoting hundreds of very early morning hours ladling soup and scooping rice before heading to work. Over the years, T.J. has also organized teams of coworkers from J. Crew to come volunteer in the kitchen as part of our corporate volunteer program. He's been an avid supporter and participant at many of our annual special events, volunteering at the Golden Heart Awards and forming his own team of friends and family for the Race to Deliver. T.J. will be coordinating the afternoon, evening and Sunday kitchen, kitting and office shifts. And be sure to look for him at this year's AIDS Walk, Heritage of Pride March and Midsummer Night Drinks. We are so excited to have T.J. on our team and are certain that you will love him as much as we do!
