

Personal Injury and Premises Liability

When you have suffered a loss or a painful injury, you are the only one who knows how much pain and disruption that accident caused to your life and well-being. Simply put, your case depends on credibility.

Manning Fulton's reputation for integrity, professionalism, and knowledge of insurance coverage adds credibility to our clients' cases. Your credibility is reflected by your representation and vice versa.

Our clients appreciate that we are not "ambulance chasers." We are proud to have had wonderful clients over the years who have continued to provide word-of-mouth referrals to North Carolinians in a myriad of difficult personal injury situations. We are highly selective in the cases we accept. We also limit the number of personal claims cases we accept each year. Over the years, we have earned solid reputations for zealously representing our clients to obtain fair resolutions of their claims through settlements or verdicts.

Our extensive experience with insurance coverage issues helps us understand our clients' cases from all sides. Again, this lends credibility to our clients' cases.

In addition to the bodily injury claims, we provide assistance with the recovery of appropriate damages for pain and suffering, life care plans, and for past and future lost income.

Overall, our approach is to focus on what matters to your case, so that you can focus on your family and getting better. We listen to our clients and provide a partnership based on a clear strategy and advice to best achieve your goals.
