

Business Organizations

The choice of your business's legal structure can have important ramifications that will affect numerous areas of the enterprise. Our attorneys have the experience and background required to understand the complexities inherent in different business entities and are prepared to assist our clients in creating and managing business structures that most effectively meet their current and future business needs.

Our attorneys are highly capable of addressing the unique organizational and tax issues faced by partnerships, limited liability companies, joint ventures, their partners and members. We are experienced in recognizing and addressing the issues surrounding the formation, capitalization, taxation, and governance of partnerships, limited liability companies and joint ventures. We represent a wide variety of clients, from family partnerships to complex domestic and international business joint ventures.