

Covid-19-Related Issues

In the face of an unprecedented pandemic and economic shutdown, businesses need informed, level-headed legal advice to navigate the many issues caused by the COVID-19 outbreak.

From assistance navigating the various federal support programs for businesses and individuals to making sure employers are successfully implementing federally-mandated emergency paid leave policies, Tugle Duggins has a team of attorneys dedicated to assisting its clients deal with the many unexpected issues brought on by the novel coronavirus.

Since the beginning of the outbreak, Tugle Duggins' dedicated team of attorneys has stayed at the forefront of the changing legal landscape surrounding COVID-19 to make sure it has the tools necessary to handle all of the challenges facing our clients.

Whether you have questions about how to handle a sudden stoppage of work by a contractual partner or about how to navigate the landlord/tenant relationship during these times, Tugle Duggins has the knowledge, resources and skills to offer its clients a full suite of legal services dealing with the COVID-19 pandemic.