

Banking Litigation

Tuggle Duggins' litigation team is experienced at dealing with banking litigation cases in state and federal court, as well as internationally.

Our banking litigation group stays well-versed on federal laws and regulations related to Dodd-Frank and other state and federal regulations related to financial compliance and banking. Our litigators have represented numerous financial institutions in many different types of disputes, and are prepared to help our clients resolve whatever comes their way.