

Restrictive Covenants & Trade Secrets Litigation

Our attorneys are experienced in litigation involving the enforcement of non-compete, non-disclosure, and non-solicitation agreements, as well as other contractual provisions that are designed to protect trade secrets, confidential information and customer relationships.

Our litigation group has also defended numerous clients against attempts to enforce unreasonable and overly burdensome restrictive covenants. Our litigators assist clients in resolving disputes efficiently and cost-effectively, while preserving the confidentiality of our client's trade secrets and enhancing our client's future business opportunities.
