

Norman Leonard to Present at Artist Summit

April 14, 2017

Intellectual Property attorney Norman Leonard will present at the upcoming Professional Craft Artist Summit taking place on April 26 at Haywood Community College's Small Business Center. According to the event's website, the seminar will address needs and challenges faced by current and prospective craft artist business owners, as arts-based businesses are unique ventures and require special business planning methods. For more information, visit the center's website.