

Business and Creditors' Rights Attorney Tyler Russell Relocates to Raleigh

May 24, 2016

Ward and Smith, P.A. attorney Tyler Russell has relocated his practice from Greenville, NC, to the Raleigh office. He represents creditors in bankruptcy cases and state court litigation, including workouts, reorganizations, Uniform Commercial Code security agreement enforcement, collections cases, and other contested matters. His clients include national and community lenders, trade creditors, equipment manufacturers, agricultural companies, community associations, contractors, and leasing companies in various reorganization and litigation proceedings. His business practice encompasses a broad range of business matters, from drafting and negotiating corporate agreements and documents to managing all aspects of mergers, acquisitions, and other transactions for a variety of companies.

"Tyler has been remarkably giving of his time and resources to the Greenville community," said Ken Wooten, the firm's Co-Managing Director. "We expect Raleigh will benefit from his presence in the area from both a legal and civic perspective."

Tyler received his law degree summa cum laude from the North Carolina Central University School of Law, and his B.A. from Virginia Military Institute.
