

Hayley Wells to Speak at NC Craft Brewers Conference 2019

October 24, 2019

Alcoholic Beverage Law attorney Hayley Wells will speak at the NC Craft Brewers Conference 2019, November 5- 7, in Winston-Salem.

She is teaming up with Dennis Theodossis, a tax partner at DHG, LLP, for a presentation titled, "Seven Things Your Lawyer and Accountant Wish You Knew Today." Hayley and Dennis' forum is one of many sessions craft brewing professionals can attend at the three-day Conference. Other topics to be covered include:

- Optimizing your taproom operations,
- Maintaining brand relevance,
- Risk management for small business,
- Disaster planning,
- CBD + Craft Beer,
- And much more. You can find the full schedule here.

In addition to wanting to expand your knowledge base, the 6th annual NC Craft Brewers Conference is the perfect place to establish new contacts, catch-up with old ones, and have an overall good time meeting approximately 600 members of the craft brewing community.

There's all a trade expo if you're in the market for new equipment, and industry awards banquet on Wednesday, November 6, sponsored by Ward and Smith.

The Conference is presented by the North Carolina Craft Brewers Guild. It is open to all breweries regardless of Guild membership, although members can receive a discount on ticket prices. For more information on how to register, click here.
