

Media Mention: Allen Trask Discusses Hemp on the 'Objection to the Form' Podcast

Written By Allen N. Trask, III (ant@wardandsmith.com)

December 3, 2020

Hemp and Cannabis Law attorney Allen Trask is the latest Ward and Smith attorney to appear on an episode of 'Objection to the Form.'

It's a podcast hosted by Justin Humphries with The Humphries Law Firm in Wilmington. They discussed various topics, including the legality of hemp, how hemp products are tested, CBD, and much more. Take a look:

Click here to subscribe to the Objection to the Form podcast, and check out personal injury attorney Jeremy Wilson's appearance on the broadcast, here.

Allen began his career as a litigator focused on business and real estate disputes, and he continues to focus his practice on representing those who own, develop, manage, and work the land. Although litigation and dispute resolution remain core parts of Allen's practice, he also enjoys advising clients on a broad range of general legal and regulatory matters. He leads the Firm's Agribusiness Practice Group, and he co-leads the Hemp and Cannabis Law practice group. Allen also serves as the co-Geographic Team Leader for the Firm's Wilmington office.