Written as a photo essay, the article explores how the new Raleigh office space was built not only to accommodate the firm's smart growth plan but to encourage a more collaborative and flexible office environment. It features quotes from both Co-Managing Directors Brad Evans and Ken Wooten, as well as tax attorney Steve Long, and labor and employment attorney Devon Williams. And litigators Gary Rickner and

Marla Bowman catch up at the firm's version of the 'old school water cooler,' the coffee bar.
