June 27, 2023

North Carolina Lawyers Weekly is recognizing Michael Fields as a top healthcare attorney in 2023.

Michael's contributions and unparalleled accomplishments in the field have been celebrated through inclusion on the publication's Power List. This honor showcases the most outstanding healthcare practitioners statewide, and Michael is one of the 21 most distinguished legal minds selected for this exclusive distinction. You can find the complete list of honorees here.

Michael leads Ward and Smith's Health Care practice group. He counsels physicians, hospitals, and other healthcare providers on regulatory, compliance, and transactional matters. He represents all types of closely-held businesses and their owners on such issues as the formation of business entities, financing transactions, and the merger, acquisition, and sale of businesses.
