

Ward and Smith Announces New Construction Conference Date

October 30, 2018

Ward and Smith is thrilled to announce the new date of our Construction Conference.

Construction industry executives and professionals, including engineers, architects, surveyors, and equipment providers, please join us on Thursday, February 21, 2019, for an exciting day of learning and networking with peers from across North Carolina.

Ward and Smith's highly anticipated Construction Conference was postponed back in September 2018 because of Hurricane Florence and its devastating effect on the State's coastal communities. Despite the delay, we are pleased to say that our program remains the same, as well as our speaker lineup.

More than a dozen speakers will provide in-depth insights on hot topics and issues including:

- Piece-rate compensation
- Minimizing contract risk
- Best practices for dealing with government investigations
- Employer liability and ways to mitigate risk to your business
- Privacy and data security for construction companies
- Construction industry economic update and forecast

There will also be a panel discussion featuring North Carolina construction industry leaders. Click here for the list of speakers. The full schedule of presentations can be found here.

Don't miss your chance to enhance your business, and forward your industry leadership. Sign-up today for Ward and Smith's Construction Conference on Thursday, February 21, 2019, at the Sheraton Imperial Hotel and Convention Center. The event is free to attend, but registration is required.

Please send all questions regarding the Conference to rsvp@wardandsmith.com.
