Chris Page Presents at NCRMA Recent T.A.P. Talk in Jacksonville, NC

NEWS | APRIL 21, 2017

Young Moore attorney Chris Page presented on An Employer's Guide to the Twittersverse: Do's, Don'ts, and Advice for Dealing with Social Media Use by Employees at the North Carolina Retail Merchants Association (NCRMA) T.A.P. Talk in Jacksonville, NC on April 20. The Retail T.A.P. Talks are one-day retail boot camps providing tangible, actionable, and practical information for business owners on a variety of topics crucial to operating, managing, and marketing a business. Chris will be presenting a similar presentation at the upcoming National Restaurant Association Conference in Chicago on May 20-23, 2017.

An experienced trial lawyer, Chris represents a broad array of commercial and insurer clients. He has extensive experience representing regional and national clients in the Hospitality and Retail industries with all of their legal needs, including claims relating to employment, business litigation, premises accidents, food-borne illnesses, Dram Shop, product liability, construction litigation and false advertising. He also represents clients in litigation involving non-compete agreements, insurance coverage analysis and bad faith litigation, trucking and transportation liability, and appellate litigation.

Chris is actively involved in ALFA International, a global network of law firms, where he serves as Chairman of both the Hospitality and Retail Law Practice Group and the Marketing Committee. He is a graduate of Duke University and Yale Law School, where he served as senior editor for the Yale Law Journal.
