
Craddock Returns to UNC School of Law as Instructor for Holderness Moot Court Workshop

NEWS | SEPTEMBER 30, 2014

Angela Farag Craddock recently returned to UNC School of Law for the third consecutive year as an Instructor-In-Practice to assist current UNC law students at this year's Holderness Moot Court Skills Training Workshop. There, she worked directly with the students on the appellate advocacy teams and served as a panelist on the topics of writing the winning brief, staffing and team dynamics.
