Dawn M. Dillon

Young Moore attorney, Dawn M. Dillon, recently presented on Workers' Compensation and Employees Working from Home at the North Carolina Association of Occupational Health Nurses (NCAOHN) Fall Conference. The day-long event was held on November 5, 2021 in Durham, North Carolina and focused on the impacts of COVID-19 in the workplace and lessons learned during the pandemic.

Dawn is a shareholder at Young Moore and co-leader of the firm's employment/worker's compensation team. She has more than 20 years of experience representing employers in matters involving: workers' compensation claims; harassment and discrimination claims; wage and hour issues; handbook, policy and compliance; non-compete and trade secrets; and employment agreements. Dawn regularly speaks at seminars for clients and other lawyers on workers' compensation and employment law topics.

About North Carolina Association of Occupational Health Nurses (NCAOHN)

The North Carolina Association of Occupational Health Nurses (NCAOHN) is an organization of approximately 300 nurses who practice occupational health nursing. This group of professionals work together with the American Association of Occupational Health Nurses (AAOHN) to promote and advance the field of occupational health nursing.
