Michael.Rainey@youngmoorelaw.com

Michael focuses his practice on the field of complex civil litigation, with an emphasis on the defense of trucking and transportation, product liability, premises liability, and insurance defense cases. He has dedicated a large portion of his practice to defending against wrongful death and catastrophic injury claims. As a member of the firm's Transportation "Go Team", Michael has substantial experience in coordinating emergency response and investigation of catastrophic losses throughout North Carolina. Michael also represents landowners and condemning authorities in condemnation/eminent domain cases.

Michael is licensed to practice in the North Carolina State Courts and Federal District Courts for the Eastern, Middle, and Western Districts. He represents numerous national clients on a state-wide basis and regularly represents and defends commercial motor carriers, business owners, product manufacturers, product distributors, and retail establishments.

Michael received his undergraduate degree from North Carolina State University and graduated cum laude from Campbell University's Norman Adrian Wiggins School of Law in 2007, where he served as Chief Articles Editor of the Campbell Law Review. He joined Young Moore and Henderson in 2008 and is an active member of the Trucking Industry Defense Association and North Carolina Trucking Association. He holds an AV rating from Martindale-Hubbell and has been named a Rising Star by North Carolina Super Lawyers (2014-2019), a category for attorneys age 40 and younger consisting of no more than 2.5% of North Carolina Attorneys. In his spare time, Michael enjoys spending time with his family, working outdoors, and cheering for the Wolfpack.
